Before any petition praying for leave to bring in a Private Bill for the erection of a toll-bridge is received by the House, the person or persons intending to petition for such Bill shall, upon giving the notice prescribed by Standing Order 100, also at the same time and in the same manner give notice of the rates which they intend to ask, the extent of the privilege, the height of the arches, the interval between the abutments or piers for the passage of rafts or vessels, and mentioning also whether they intend to erect a drawbridge or not, and the dimensions of the same.

103. (1) All Private Bills for Acts of incorporation shall be so framed as to incorporate by reference to the clauses of the general Acts relating to the details to be provided for by such Bills: Special grounds shall be established for any proposed departure from this principle, or for the introduction of other provisions as to such details, and a note shall be appended to the Bill indicating the provisions thereof in which the general Act is proposed to be departed from. Bills which are not framed in accordance with this Standing Order shall be recast by the promoters and reprinted at their expense before any Committee passes upon the clauses.

(2) Every Bill for an Act of incorporation, where a form of model Bill has been adopted, shall be drawn in accordance with the model Bill (copies of model Bills may be obtained from the Clerk of the House). Any provisions contained in any such Bill which are not in accord with the model Bill shall be inserted between brackets or underlined, and shall be so printed.

(3) Any exceptional provisions that it may be proposed to insert in any Bill shall be clearly specified in the notice of application for same.

107. All Private Bills shall be prepared by the parties applying for the same, and printed in small-pica type, twenty-six ems by fifty ems, on good paper, in imperial octavo form, each page when folded measuring 10¾ inches by 7½ inches. There shall be a marginal number every fifth line of each page; the numbering of the lines is not to run on through the Bill, but the lines of each page are to be numbered separately. Three hundred copies of each Bill shall be deposited with the Clerk of the House immediately before the first reading. If amendments are made to any Bill during its progress before the Committee on Private Bills, or through the House, such Bill shall be reprinted by the promoters thereof.

In the case of Bills to incorporate companies, in addition to the fee of $300 mentioned in Rule 98, fees calculated on the capital of the company are payable at the same time. Further particulars can be had on application to the undersigned.

All cheques in payment of fees must be certified.

COURT OF APPEAL

In the Matter of the Constitutional Questions Act, and in the Matter of a Reference by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council Referring the Constitutionality of Part of the Supreme Court Act Amendment Act, C. 56 of the B.C. Statutes of 1964, S. 3 (3) (d1).

Reasons for Judgment of the Honourable The Chief Justice

I have had the privilege of carefully examining the reasons for judgment on this Reference expressed by my brother Tysoe with which I fully agree. I would answer the question referred to this Court in the negative for the reasons stated by Tysoe, J.A.

H. J. BIRD, C.J.B.C.

Victoria, B.C., November 10, 1964.

Reasons for Judgment of the Honourable Mr. Justice Davey

I agree with my brother Tysoe so far as he goes, subject to my comments on the Letters Patent issued to the Local Judges, but would carry my conclusions somewhat farther.

In my opinion the legislation referred to us, namely, parts of section 3 of the Supreme Court Act Amendment Act, 1964, Cap. 56, does not conflict with Scott v. Scott (1891) 4 B.C.R. 316; Brown v. Brown (1909) 14 B.C.R. 316, and other cases to like effect in this Court. These cases deal with the conferring of new appellate jurisdiction in divorce and matrimonial causes upon existing or new Courts. The legislation in question merely authorizes other officials of the Supreme Court to exercise its existing jurisdiction in divorce and matrimonial causes, a matter that would fall within the authority of the Provincial Legislature under paragraph 14 of section 92 of the British North America Act, if it were not for the provisions of sections 96 and 99.

The invalidity of the legislation lies in the fact that it confers trial jurisdiction in divorce and matrimonial causes that is exercisable only by Supreme Court Judges upon officials of the Supreme Court who have not been appointed Superior Court Judges in the manner required by section 96 of the British North America Act, and who do not possess the tenure and security of office of Superior Court Judges under section 99 of that Act.

The Letters Patent of the Governor-General appointing the several County Court Judges to be Local Judges of the Supreme Court are not valid appointments of Superior Court Judges under section 96, since the Supreme Court Act passed by the Provincial Legislature specifies who the Local Judges shall be and thereby in effect requires the Governor-General to appoint the County Court Judges to be the Local Judges, or to make no appointment at all, instead of leaving the Governor-General free to exercise his power at large, subject only to the provisions of the Judges Act, as section 96 intends.

I would answer the question in the negative.

H. W. DAVEY, J.A.

Victoria, B.C., November 10, 1964.

Reasons for Judgment of the Honourable Mr. Justice Sheppard

This is a reference by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council pursuant to the Constitutional Questions Determination Act, R.S.B.C. 1960, cap. 72, to determine the validity of the Supreme Court Amendment Act, 1964 (cap 56), insofar as it provides in effect that the Judges of County Courts, as Local Judges of the Supreme Court, may exercise all the power of the Supreme Court or of a Judge thereof under the provisions of "(d1) the Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Act as amended by the Divorce Jurisdiction Act and by the Marriage and Divorce Act of Canada."

The reference raises two questions:—

- (1) Whether the Province may legislate in respect of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes;
- (2) Whether such legislation is an appointment within the power of the Governor-General in Council under section 96 of the British North America Act.

Earlier judgments of the Court of this Province have held that the Legislature had not power within section 92, ss. 14 of the British North America Act to enact procedure in divorce and matrimonial causes. In Scott v. Scott (1891) 4 B.C.R. 316, Begbie, C.J., in delivering the judgment of the Full Court said (at p. 319):

But since Confederation all matters concerning divorce are expressly reserved to the Dominion Parliament; and thereupon held that the Provincial Statute providing that an appeal could lie to the Full Court from every judgment, decree or order made by a Judge could not confer appellate jurisdiction in divorce matters. Scott v. Scott was followed in subsequent cases; in Brown v. Brown (1909) 14 B.C.R. 142; in Claman v. Claman (1925) 35 B.C.R. 137 an appeal to the Supreme Court was dismissed without reasons ((1926) S.C.R. 4), and in Jamieson v. Tytler (1935) 50 B.C.R. 263. However, certain members of the Court have expressed doubt as to the soundness of the decision of Scott v. Scott but accepted it by reason of its long standing: Jamieson v. Tytler, supra; Re Income Tax Act, etc. (1964) 48 W.W.R. (N.S.) 213 at p. 218. Since Scott v. Scott, supra, judgments of the Judicial Committee have held that Provincial legislation creating Courts had conferred jurisdiction in divorce. In Watts v. Watts (1908) A.C.

573, the Judicial Committee held that the Supreme Court of British Columbia had jurisdiction in divorce under the Matrimonial Causes Act of 1857. It would follow that as the Supreme Court of British Columbia was created by Provincial Statute, therefore the Province may enact as procedural legislation the establishment of a Court having jurisdiction in divorce and may create the office of Judge with power to exercise the jurisdiction of the Court. In Walker v. Walker (1919) A.C. 947, the Judicial Committee held that the Matrimonial Causes Act of 1857 enacted as a substantive law of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes came into force in the Province of Manitoba, and the Court of King's Bench of that Province, which was created by Provincial legislation, had jurisdiction to administer that law. Viscount Haldane said at p. 950:

That question is whether the Court of King's Bench for the Province of Manitoba has jurisdiction to deal with a petition for a decree declaring a marriage null and void on the ground of impotency. The answer to this question depends on what is the law relating to dissolution of marriage in the Province, and to the jurisdiction of its Court of King's Bench. and at p. 955:

It appears to them to be clear that, in the absence of words limiting its jurisdiction under the Act referred to, the Court of King's Bench of the Province of Manitoba was rightly held by the learned judges in the Court of Appeal of the Province, as the result of the careful and learned judgments they delivered, to have had jurisdiction, as contended by the respondent and the intervenant.

In Board v. Board (1919) A.C. 956, the Judicial Committee held that the Matrimonial Causes Act of 1857 was in force in Alberta and that the Supreme Court of Alberta, created by Provincial legislation, had jurisdiction to administer that law. Viscount Haldane said at p. 962:

Had it been intended to exclude jurisdiction in divorce it would have been necessary to say so; for the language of s. 9 of the Act of 1907 in particular is so comprehensive that it confers on the Supreme Court of Alberta all the capacity given by the Divorce Acts to the judges of the other Courts in England to act as the Court established by those Acts. . . .

The right to divorce had, before the setting up of a supreme and superior Court of record in Alberta, been introduced into the substantive law of the Province. Their Lordships are of opinion that, in the absence of any explicit and valid legislative declaration that the Court was not to exercise jurisdiction in divorce, that Court was bound to entertain and to give effect to proceedings for making that right operative. Had the Legislature of the Province enacted that its tribunals were not to give effect to the right which the Dominion Parliament had conferred in the exercise of its exclusive jurisdiction, a serious question would have arisen as to whether such an enactment was valid. But not only is there no such enactment but, on the mere question of construction of the language of the Provincial Act of 1907, their Lordships are of opinion that a well-known rule makes it plain that the language there used ought to be interpreted as not excluding the jurisdiction. If the right exists, the presumption is that there is a Court which can enforce it, for if no other mode of enforcing it is prescribed, that alone is sufficient to give jurisdiction to the King's Courts of justice. In order to oust jurisdiction, it is necessary, in the absence of a special law excluding it altogether, to plead that jurisdiction exists in some other Court.

These judgments have since been applied to hold to be valid Provincial legislation relating to procedure in divorce matters. In Bilsland v. Bilsland (1922) 1 W.W.R. 718, 31 Man. R. 422, it was held that the Manitoba Legislature in the absence of Dominion legislation on the subject (under section 101 of the British North America Act) has power to provide for appeals in divorce actions. In Mitchell v. Mitchell (1936) 1 W.W.R. 553, 44 Man. R. 23, the Court of Appeal held valid Provincial legislation permitting the Judge in divorce actions to award damages against a co-respondent. In Reference re Constitutional Validity of an Act to Amend an Act for Establishing a Court of Divorce in Prince Edward Island (1952) 29 M.P.R. 120 and (1952) 2 D.L.R. 513 (P.E.I.), the Supreme Court of Prince Edward Island held that it was within the powers of the Provincial Legislature by amendment to vest jurisdiction in divorce in the Supreme Court Judicature of that Province.

It would follow that the Legislature of British Columbia under section 92 (14) of the British North America Act has legislative jurisdiction to constitute a Court having original jurisdiction in divorce, and in creating the organization of the Court, to designate the offices within the Court and their jurisdiction in divorce equally as in other matters: Watts v. Watts; Walker v. Walker; Board v. Board, supra. That would enable the Legislature to create the office of Local Judge and to define the jurisdiction thereof, subject always to any Dominion legislation under section 101 of the British North America Act by reason of divorce coming within section 91, ss. 26.

The further question arises whether the legislation in question is within the powers of the Province or, on the other hand, outside those powers as an appointment of Judges within section 96 of the British North America Act. By legislation of British Columbia prior to the 1964 amendment, County Court Judges of various counties had been appointed Local Judges of the Supreme Court and their appointment has been held valid in that their jurisdiction was limited to matters in Chambers and, therefore, with section 92, ss. 14 of the British North America Act. As jurisdiction was limited to matters that might be dealt with in Chambers (Wakefield v. Turner (1898) 6 B.C.R. 216) such Local Judges had no power to sit as a trial Judge: Brigman v. McKenzie, et al. (1897) 6 B.C.R. 56 and could not deal with matters that required a Court order: Wakefield v. Turner, supra, and could not grant foreclosure: Re The Land Registry Act. Lomis v. Abbott (1915-16) 22 B.C.R. 330; Kennedy v. MacKenzie (1941) 57 B.C.R. 94, where Mr. Justice O'Halloran points out two exceptions to Court orders.

The 1964 amendment purports to give to certain County Court Judges, as Local Judges of the Supreme Court, the power and authority as may be exercised by the Supreme Court or a Judge thereof, that would include the power to try actions of divorce. That raises the question whether this legislation is invalid as being the appointment of a Judge reserved to the Governor-General in Council under section 96 of the British North America Act.

In In re The Trade Union Act, 1944, Saskatchewan. Labour Relations Board of Saskatchewan v. John East Iron Works Limited (1948) 2 W.W.R. 1055, the contention on behalf of the John East Iron Works Limited was that the Provincial Legislature had conferred such powers upon the Board as to constitute an appointment of a Judge within section 96 of the British North America Act. The Judicial Committee held that the test to be applied was:

(a) Whether the Board exercised a judicial power:

(b) If so, whether in that exercise it was a tribunal analogous to a Superior, District, or County Court and therefore within section 96 of the British North America Act.

The problems of this reference have been determined by The Attorney-General for Ontario and Display Service Co. Ltd. v. Victoria Medical Building Ltd. et al. (1960) S.C.R. 32, where the Province of Ontario purported to confer upon a Master—validly appointed by the Province—the additional power of trying mechanics' lien actions, and it was held that the section, in conferring upon a Master in Chambers, jurisdiction to try mechanics' lien actions, was ultra vires of the Province as constituting an appointment within section 96 of the British North America Act. The Chief Justice stated at pp. 37-38:

Furthermore it was pointed out in the Labour Relations case that it was sufficient for the purpose of the decision of the Reference re Adoption Act for Sir Lyman Duff to pose this question: "Does the jurisdiction conferred upon magistrates under these statutes broadly conform to a type of jurisdiction generally exercisable by courts of summary jurisdiction rather than the jurisdiction exercised by courts within the purview of s. 96?" In the Labour Relations Board case Their Lordships pointed out that if the same alternative had been presented to them they might well answer it in like manner, but they preferred to put the question in another way which might be more helpful in the decisions of similar issues, namely: "Does the jurisdiction conferred by the Act on the appellant Board broadly conform to the type of jurisdiction exercised by the Superior, District or County Court?"

Judson, J., who delivered judgment for Locke, Cartwright, Abbott, Martland and Judson, JJ., stated at pp. 42-43:

All these functions are exercised in an original way and constitute a new type of jurisdiction for the Master which in many aspects is not merely analogous to that exercised by a s. 96 judge but is, in fact, that very jurisdiction, limited only to one particular field of litigation. While it is true that the Master's jurisdiction is very varied in character, it is, I think, largely concerned with preliminary matters and proceedings in an action, necessary to enable the case to be heard, and with matters that are referred to that office under a judge's order. There is no inherent jurisdiction in the office as there is in the office of a Superior Court judge.

The mode of exercise of the jurisdiction in question is also significant in the determination of this dispute. The Master, under this legislation, is the only trial officer in the County of York. He gives a final adjudication, subject to an appeal to the Court of Appeal.

and at p. 44:

But I am satisfied, as was the Court of Appeal, that the assignment of the power of final adjudication to the Master goes beyond procedure and amounts to an appointment of a judge under s. 96 of the British North America Act. The position of the Master as a referee acting under a judge's order and reporting back to the Court is fundamentally different from his position under the impugned legislation as an independent trier of fact and I think that the Court of Appeal was right in rejecting any analogy between the two positions.

In Re McLean Gold Mines Limited and The Attorney-General for Ontario (1923) 54 O.L.R. 573, a Provincial Statute in purporting to give the Mining Commissioner jurisdiction to determine the validity of patents issued through fraud, error, or improvidence was held to be ultra vires of the Province as constituting the appointment of a Judge within section 96 of the British North America Act. In Attorney-General for Ontario v. Attorney-General for Canada (1925) A.C. 750, (1925) 1 W.W.R. 1131, wherein it was held that the Ontario Judicature Act, which authorized the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to appoint Judges of the High Court to the Appellate Division and to designate the Chief Justice of Ontario and the Chief Justice of the High Court, was ultra vires of the Province, as the effect was to appoint a Judge of the High Court to the Appellate Division and therefore within the powers assigned to the Governor-General in Council under section 96 of the British North America Act.

As to the enactment here in question, the jurisdiction in divorce and matrimonial causes is the exercise of a judicial power of a Superior Court: that has been so held in Walker v. Walker and Board v. Board, supra. The appointment of the officer to exercise that judicial power is an appointment within section 96 of the British North America Act, which is reserved for the Governor-General in Council and is ultra vires of the Province: Labour Relations Board of Saskatchewan v. John East Iron Works Limited; The Attorney-General for Ontario and Display Service Co. Ltd. v. Victoria Medical Building Ltd. et al., supra. While the County Court Judges may have been validly appointed Local Judges, and the enactment in question merely adds to their jurisdiction the power to try cases in divorce and matrimonial causes, nevertheless, that enactment is an appointment within section 96 of the British North America Act and is ultra vires of the Province.

The John East case offers no support to the contention that the amendment in question is intra vires of the Province. That judgment holds that the tribunal there in question was an administrative tribunal and within the legislative powers of the Province and not judicial within section 96. In contrast thereto the amendment here in question confers a judicial power and in its exercise the Local Judge is constituted a tribunal analogous to a Superior Court: Walker v. Walker, supra, and Board v. Board, supra. That constitutes an appointment within section 96 of the British North America Act.

The further question is whether the ultra vires portion is severable. The test is stated in the Reference re Alberta Bill of Rights Act, Attorney-General for Alberta v. Attorney-General for Canada (1947) A.C. 503 at p. 518 as follows:

The real question is whether what remains is so inextricably bound up with the part declared invalid that what remains cannot independently survive or, as it has sometimes been put, whether on a fair review of the whole matter it can be assumed that the legislature would have enacted what survives without enacting the part that is ultra vires at all.

and is similarly stated in Toronto Corporation v. York Corporation (1938) A.C. 415 at p. 427 as follows:

The result is that such parts of the Act as purport to vest in the Board the functions of a Court have no effect. They are, however, severable; there is nothing to suggest that the Board would not have been granted its administrative powers without the addition of the judicial powers complained of.

It would have been intra vires of the Legislature to have enacted that the jurisdiction in divorce should be exercised by a Judge or by a Local Judge; that would fall within section 92, ss. 14, and would leave the appointment of a Judge or Local Judge to the Governor-General in Council as required by section 96. However, that is not the enactment here in question. Section 18 (2) of the Supreme Court Act (as enacted by 1964 cap. 56, sec. 3) reads in part:

... it is declared that the jurisdiction of the Judges of the several County Courts as Local Judges of the Supreme Court extends to the exercising of all such powers and authorities, and the performing of all such acts, and the transacting of all such business as may be exercised, performed, or transacted by the Supreme Court or any Judge thereof under the provisions of . . .

Under that section 18 (2) the jurisdiction in respect of divorce is given to those Judges of the County Court who have been appointed by the Province to be Local Judges and is not merely given to the office of a Local Judge. As the appointment of the County Court Judges is invalid, the jurisdiction which is conferred upon those Judges so invalidly appointed must likewise be invalid, as powers are inexorably bound up with the appointment so as not to be severable.

In conclusion, the legislation which has been referred, namely, the portion of the Supreme Court Act Amendment Act, 1964, relative to jurisdiction in divorce and matrimonial causes, is ultra vires of the Province.

F. A. SHEPPARD, J.A.

Reasons for Judgment of the Honourable Mr. Justice Norris

The question submitted to this Court for its opinion and report in accordance with the provisions of the Constitutional Questions Determination Act of British Columbia, as set out in Order in Council of September 1st, 1964, No. 2441, is as follows:

Is that part of section 3 of the Supreme Court Act Amendment Act 1964, being chapter 56 of the Statutes of British Columbia, 1964, which provides for the amendment of section 18 of the Supreme Court Act by inserting the words "the Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Act as amended by the Divorce Jurisdiction Act and by the Marriage and Divorce Act of Canada" as clause (d1) of subsection (2) thereof intra vires the Legislature of the Province?

Section 3 of chapter 56 of the Statutes of British Columbia, 1964, is set out in full in the reasons of my brother Tysoe, which I have had the advantage of reading.

It is argued by counsel for the Attorney-General that the part of section 3 referred to in the question is intra vires as being a valid exercise of the power committed to the Provincial Legislature to legislate under head 14 of section 92 of the British North America Act in relation to matters coming within "The administration of justice in the Province, including the constitution, maintenance, and organization of Provincial Courts, both of civil and of criminal jurisdiction, and including procedure in civil matters in those Courts."

Counsel for the Law Society of British Columbia and counsel amicus curiae submit:

(1) That the legislation encroaches on the exclusive authority of the Parliament of Canada to legislate on matters coming within head 26 of section 91 of the British North America Act, "Marriage and divorce";

(2) That it encroaches on the power set out in section 96 of the British North America Act as follows:

96. The Governor-General shall appoint the Judges of the Superior, District, and County Courts in each Province, except those of the Courts of Probate in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

On a consideration of these submissions it falls to be determined what the pith and substance of the legislation is. See Gallagher v. Lynn (1937) A.C. 863, Lord Atkin at p. 870:

These questions affecting limitation on the legislative powers of subordinate parliaments or the distribution of powers between parliaments in a federal system are now familiar, and I do not propose to cite the whole range of authority which has largely arisen in discussion of the powers of Canadian Parliaments. It is well established that you are to look at the "true nature and character of the legislation"; Russell v. The Queen (7 App. Cas. 839) "the pith and substance of the legislation." If, on the view of the statute as a whole, you find that the substance of the legislation is within the express powers, then it is not invalidated if incidentally it affects matters which are outside the authorized field. The legislation must not under the guise of dealing with one matter in fact encroach upon the forbidden field. Nor are you to look only at the object of the legislator. An Act may have a perfectly lawful object, e.g., to promote the health of the inhabitants, but may seek to achieve that object by invalid methods, e.g., a direct prohibition of any trade with a foreign country. In other words, you may certainly consider the clauses of an Act to see whether they are passed "in respect of" the forbidden subject.

Applying the tests indicated by Lord Atkin it is my opinion, for the reasons given by my brother Tysoe in the latter part of his judgment, that the legislation considered as a whole and in the light of the legislative history is in its pith, substance, character and purpose not legislation in relation to the administration of justice in the Province, including the constitution, maintenance and organization of Provincial Courts, but is legislation encroaching on the power reserved by section 96 of the British North America Act to the Governor-General to appoint the Judges of the Superior, District and County Courts in each Province with exceptions which are not material here. With respect, I find the reasoning of my brother compelling, and in particular in his application of the judgments in Colonial Investment & Loan Co. v. Grady (1915) 24 D.L.R. 176, in Labour Relations Board of Saskatchewan v. John East Iron Works Ltd. (1949) A.C. 134, and in The Attorney-General for Ontario and Display Service Co. Ltd. v. Victoria Medical Building Ltd. (1960) S.C.R. 32.

As I find that this legislation, considered as a whole, encroaches upon the powers given to the Governor-General under section 96 of the British North America Act, and is not a valid exercise of the power allotted to the Provincial Legislature under head 14 of section 92, it is not necessary to consider the question as to whether it encroaches on the powers of the Federal Parliament under head 26 of section 91.

In my opinion, the part of section 3 of the Supreme Court Act Amendment Act, 1964, Statutes of British Columbia, 1964, referred to in the question submitted, is ultra vires of the Legislature of British Columbia.

T. G. NORRIS, J.A.
Victoria, B.C., November 10, 1964.

Reasons for Judgment of the Honourable Mr. Justice Tysoe

This reference concerns the validity of part of section 3 of the Supreme Court Act Amendment Act, 1964, being chapter 56 of the Statutes of British Columbia, 1964. The said section 3 reads as follows:

3. Section 18 is amended

- (a) by striking out the words " ; but this section does not apply to the Victoria Judicial District or the Vancouver Judicial District" in the last three lines of subsection (1);
- (b) by inserting the words "the Adoption Act" as clause (b1) of subsection (2); and
- (c) by inserting the words "the Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Act as amended by the Divorce Jurisdiction

Act and by the Marriage and Divorce Act of Canada" as clause (d1) of subsection (2);

so that the section shall read as follows:—

"18. (1) Judges of the several County Courts are Judges of the Court for the purposes of their jurisdiction in actions in the Court, and in the exercise of such jurisdiction may be styled 'Local Judges of the Supreme Court of British Columbia,' and have in all causes and matters in the Court, subject to Rules of Court, power and authority to do and perform all such acts and transact all such business, in respect of causes and matters in and before the Court, as they are by Statute or Rules of Court in that behalf from time to time empowered to do and perform.

"(2) Without thereby limiting the generality of the provisions of subsection (1), it is declared that the jurisdiction of the Judges of the several County Courts as Local Judges of the Supreme Court extends to the exercising of all such powers and authorities, and the performing of all such acts, and the transacting of all such business as may be exercised, performed, or transacted by the Supreme Court or any Judge thereof under the provisions of "(a) the Administration Act, or by virtue of any Statute or of any law in force in the Province in respect of matters or causes relating to the grant or revocation of probate of wills or letters of administration;

"(b) the Bills of Sale Act;

"(b1) the Adoption Act;

"(c) the Companies Act;

"(d) the Creditors' Relief Act;

"(d1) the Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Act as amended by the Divorce Jurisdiction Act and by the Marriage and Divorce Act of Canada;

"(e) the Equal Guardianship of Infants Act;

"(f) the Infants Act;

"(g) the Land Registry Act;

"(h) the Quieting Titles Act;

"(i) the Trustee Act;

"(j) the Water Act."

The question referred to us by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council for hearing and consideration pursuant to the Constitutional Questions Determination Act is as follows:

Is that part of section 3 of the Supreme Court Act Amendment Act, 1964, being chapter 56 of the Statutes of British Columbia, 1964, which provides for the amendment of section 18 of the Supreme Court Act by inserting the words "the Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Act as amended by the Divorce Jurisdiction Act and by the Marriage and Divorce Act of Canada" as clause (d1) of subsection (2) thereof intra vires the Legislature of the Province?

The first question that arises is whether the legislation in question is legislation relating to a matter coming within the class of subject set out in paragraph (14) of section 92 of the British North America Act, namely: The administration of justice in the Province, including the constitution, maintenance, and organization of Provincial Courts, both of civil and criminal jurisdiction, and including procedure in civil matters in those Courts. The Attorney-General of British Columbia, represented before us by Mr. G. L. Murray, Q.C., submits that it is. The Law Society of British Columbia, represented before us by Mr. D. M. Gordon, Q.C., and Mr. L. G. McKenzie, Q.C., amicus curiae, submit that it is not. They contend that the legislation relates to the subject of Marriage and Divorce as to which the Parliament of Canada has exclusive legislative authority (section 91 (26) of the British North America Act), and that on this ground the legislation is ultra vires of the Province. In view of the conclusion I have arrived at on the second question, referred to hereafter, it is not necessary that I deal with the first question. Nevertheless, as the subject was fully canvassed before us and great stress was put upon it by Mr. Gordon and Mr. McKenzie, I think it advisable to examine the submissions made in respect thereof as well as the cases cited.

In Regina v. Bush (1888) 15 O.R. 398, Street, J. (whose judgment is referred to with approval by Chief Justice Duff in Reference re Authority to Perform Functions Vested by the Adoption Act, Etc., of Ontario (1938) S.C.R. 398 at p. 406), said at p. 403 that the words of paragraph (14) of section 92 of the British North America Act confer upon Provincial Legislatures the right to regulate and provide for the whole machinery connected with the administration of justice in the Provinces, reserving only the procedure in criminal matters; and that everything coming within the ordinary meaning of the expression "the administration of justice" remains to be dealt with by the Provincial Legislatures in pursuance of the powers conferred upon them by paragraph (14) of section 92, excepting only what has been subtracted from those powers by sections 96, 100, 101 and paragraph 27 of section 91 of the British North America Act. Mr. Justice Street went on to say at p. 404:

It is clearly the intention of the Act that the Provincial Legislature shall be responsible for the administration of justice within their respective Provinces, excepting in so far as the duty was cast upon the Dominion Parliament. The only duty cast upon the Dominion Parliament in the matter is contained in the clauses to which I have referred, by which the appointment of the Judges of certain Courts is reserved to it.

In Clement's Canadian Constitution, 3rd Ed., at p. 545, appears the following:

The better view would appear to be that, given a law creating a right to divorce or judicial separation, the administration of that law would be part of the administration of justice in the province and would prima facie fall to provincial courts constituted under provincial legislation—subject always, of course, to the power of the Dominion Parliament to constitute additional Courts under Section 101 of the B.N.A. Act and to regulate procedure in divorce cases, if so disposed.

This view is referred to with approval by Martin, J., in Sheppard v. Sheppard (1908) 13 B.C.R. 486, at p. 519. The Dominion Parliament has not so far constituted any Court with jurisdiction in divorce and matrimonial causes.

Support for the contention that the legislation in question is ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature on the ground that it relates to the subject of Marriage and Divorce, as to which the Parliament of Canada has exclusive legislative authority, is found in Scott v. Scott (1891) 4 B.C.R. 316, the decision in which was applied in Brown v. Brown (1909) 14 B.C.R. 316, and in later British Columbia cases, although doubts as to the correctness of the decision were expressed by this Court in two of those later cases. But in Bilsland v. Bilsland (1922) 1 W.W.R. 718, 31 Man.R. 422, the Manitoba Court of Appeal refused to follow Scott v. Scott.

The question before the Court in Scott v. Scott and in Bilsland v. Bilsland was whether the Provincial Legislature had power to give a right of appeal in divorce matters. In the former case the Full Court of this Province had answered the question in the negative because "since Confederation all matters concerning divorce are expressly reserved to the Dominion Parliament." The Court in Bilsland v. Bilsland disagreed with this view. Perdue, C.J.M., said at (1922) 1 W.W.R. 718 at p. 720:

With respect I would say that if the above reasoning and conclusion are correct, the Full Court would have no power to hear appeals in actions on bills of exchange or promissory notes which are subjects of Dominion jurisdiction in the same manner as is divorce. If the same line of reasoning is correct no appeal would lie to the Full Court or any other provincial Appellate Court in an action against a Dominion railway company or in respect of any of the subjects enumerated in sec. 91 of The B.N.A. Act. Appeals in actions of the above nature have always been entertained in provincial Appellate Courts, where there is no Dominion legislation to the contrary.

and at pp. 720-721:

It appears to me that the learned Judges who decided Scott v. Scott and Brown v. Brown did not pay sufficient regard to sub-head No. 14 of sec. 92 of The B.N.A. Act, which confers upon the Legislature in each province jurisdiction to make laws in relation to "the administration of justice in the province, including the constitution, maintenance, and organization of provincial Courts, both of civil and criminal jurisdiction, and including procedure in civil matters in those Courts."

Under sec. 101 of the same Act the Parliament of Canada may provide for the establishment of additional Courts for the better administration of the laws of Canada. Parliament has not created a divorce Court. The administration of the law of divorce where it is in force in a province is therefore left to the provincial Court having jurisdiction to apply that law: Boord v. Boord (1919) A.C. 956, at p. 962, 88 L.J.P.C. 165, (1919) 2 W.W.R. 940. If it is provided in the constitution of the provincial Court that the trial of the case shall take place before a single Judge in the first instance and that his decision shall on the application of either party be reheard and varied or reversed by the Full Court, this, it appears to me, would be within the powers conferred by No. 14 of sec. 92 of The B.N.A. Act. This right of appeal will apply even where the matter in litigation arose under one of the subjects included in sec. 91 of The B.N.A. Act, except criminal law, if there was no Dominion legislation already occupying the field. This conclusion may, I think, be drawn from the decisions of the Privy Council in Atty-Gen. for Ontario v. Atty-Gen. for Canada (1894) A.C. 189, 63 L.J.P.C. 59 (dealing with provincial legislation in regard to voluntary assignments for the benefit of creditors); Tennant v. Union Bank of Canada (1894) A.C. 31, 63 L.J.P.C. 25; G.T. Ry. v. Atty-Gen. for Canada (1907) A.C. 65, 76 L.J.P.C. 23.

Fullerton, J.A., said at pp. 726-727:

Upon what ground can it be urged that because a judgment herein involves divorce law the jurisdiction of the Court is excluded?

If the provincial Legislature has power to constitute the Court of King's Bench and give it jurisdiction to try divorce petitions it would seem to follow as a matter of course that it has power to constitute a Court of Appeal and give it jurisdiction to hear appeals from judgments rendered in such proceedings. I can see no possible argument against such a conclusion. Almost daily the Court is hearing appeals from judgments involving substantive law enacted by the Dominion Parliament. The Bills of Exchange Act, The Bank Act and The Railway Act are familiar examples. Take for example The Bills of Exchange Act. It contains no provision authorizing a provincial Court to try actions or hear appeals, but it could not be seriously suggested that the jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal is excluded in such matters. Divorce legislation stands on no different plane, both being substantive law enacted by the Dominion Parliament. Doubtless the Dominion Parliament might pass legislation saying that there should be no appeal from a decree in a divorce matter, but in the absence of any such legislation I am clearly of opinion that an appeal lies.

In Mitchell v. Mitchell (1936) 1 W.W.R. 553, the same Court of Appeal had to consider whether a claim for damages against a co-respondent in a divorce action was a matter of property and civil rights in a Province and so within the jurisdiction of a Provincial Legislature or a matter of marriage and divorce within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament. Richards, J.A., delivering the judgment of the Court, said at p. 556:

If the claim against a co-respondent were considered to be a part of and not as merely incident to a divorce action it would still be that, while the Dominion has exclusive jurisdiction over the substantive law of divorce which has been introduced into this province, the administration of justice relative thereto is within the competence of the province: Bilsland v. Bilsland (1922) 1 W.W.R. 718, 31 Man. R. 422.

The Full Court of Prince Edward Island in Reference re Divorce Act (1952) 2 D.L.R. 513, 29 M.P.R. 120 refused to follow Scott v. Scott, supra, and agreed with Bilsland v. Bilsland, supra. The headnote is in part as follows:

In the absence of Dominion legislation conferring jurisdiction and regulating procedure in Divorce and Matrimonial Causes, a provincial Legislature may confer such jurisdiction on a provincially constituted Court and may regulate the procedure therein. This proposition applies to the administration of a substantive divorce law whether it be of pre-Confederation origin or whether it be enacted by the Dominion in pursuance of its exclusive power under s. 91 (26) of the B.N.A. Act.

Campbell, C.J., with whom Tweedy, J., expressly agreed, said at (1952) 2 D.L.R. pp. 522-523 (after referring to the British Columbia and Manitoba cases mentioned earlier herein):

After a full consideration of the two lines of cases, and of the underlying principles, I have come to the conclusion that the reasoning in the Manitoba decisions is more cogent, and I am therefore of the opinion that, in the absence of Dominion legislation conferring jurisdiction and regulating procedure in Divorce and Matrimonial Causes, a provincial Legislature may confer such jurisdiction on a provincially constituted Court, and may regulate the procedure therein. To hold otherwise would lead analogously to the conclusion that provincial statutes conferring jurisdiction on provincial Courts must be construed not to extend to cases concerning such a subject as (e.g.) bills of exchange, for the reason that such subject is substantively under the exclusive legislative jurisdiction of the Dominion.

It frequently happens that a subject-matter of legislation is potentially within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament, while in another aspect it deals with such subjects as property and civil rights, or the administration of justice within a Province. With reference to such a subject-matter, Lord Herschell L.C. in A.-G. Ont. v. A.-G. Can., (1894) A.C. 189 at pp. 200-1, said: "Their Lordships do not doubt that it would be open to the Dominion Parliament to deal with such matters as part of a bankruptcy law, and the provincial legislature would doubtless be then precluded from interfering with this legislation inasmuch as such interference would affect the bankruptcy law of the Dominion Parliament. But it does not follow that such subjects, as might properly be treated as ancillary to such a law and therefore within the powers of the Dominion Parliament, are excluded from the legislative authority of the provincial legislature when there is no bankruptcy or insolvency legislation of the Dominion Parliament in existence."

In Re Income Tax Act, A Solicitor v. Minister of National Revenue (1964) 48 W.W.R. 213, our brother Davey at p. 217 dealt with the conflict in the views expressed in the British Columbia and the Manitoba and Prince Edward Island cases and expressed his agreement with the reasoning in Bilsland v. Bilsland and Reference re Divorce Legislation, supra. I would add that that reasoning impresses me. However, in view of the conclusion I have reached on the second question, I do not feel that I need deal further with this subject. Accordingly, I shall not answer the first question arising here.

Turning then to the second question that arises. It is whether the legislation is ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature on the ground that it encroaches upon the exclusive authority of the Governor-General to appoint the Judges of the Superior and County Courts of British Columbia as set out in section 96 of the British North America Act.

As I see the matter, we are not here concerned with the power of the Province to increase, enlarge or extend the jurisdiction of the County Courts and the Judges thereof as such. The interesting question raised by Mr. Gordon whether the Provincial Legislature, acting under section 92 (14) of the British North America Act, can validly confer upon County Courts a jurisdiction as extensive as that possessed by the Supreme Court of British Columbia and so, in effect, obliterate the differences and distinctions between County Courts and the Supreme Court need not be considered by us. Nor are we concerned with the situation that would exist were the appointment of County Court Judges as Local Judges of the Supreme Court to be made by the Province, for all such appointments are in fact made by the Dominion in the following form of Letters Patent:

KNOW YOU that, reposing trust and confidence in your loyalty, integrity, and ability, We did, on the day of , in the year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and , and in the year of Our Reign, constitute and appoint you the said to be

of British Columbia

TO HAVE, hold, exercise and enjoy the said office of a Local Judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, unto you the said with all and every the powers, rights, authority, privileges, profits, emoluments, and advantages unto the said office of right and by Law appertaining during your good behaviour and your tenure of office as a Judge of the County Court of in the Province of British Columbia.

The Dominion Parliament has not attempted to define the powers, rights and authority of these Local Judges. Probably the power to do so rests with the Provincial Legislature, but that Legislature cannot, in the purported exercise of that power, interfere with the powers given to the Governor-General or the Dominion by the British North America Act.

The jurisdiction in Divorce and Matrimonial Causes remains under the legislation in the Supreme Court. The Provincial Legislature has purported to give to a person who has not been appointed a Supreme Court Judge and who is not a Judge of that Court the power to exercise that jurisdiction to the fullest extent. In Kennedy v. MacKenzie (1941) 57 B.C.R. 94, O'Halloran, J.A., delivering the judgment of this Court, said at p. 98:

The jurisdiction of a county judge to do certain things as a local judge of the Supreme Court is purely statutory. It does not make him a superior Court, or a judge of a superior Court while he is so acting. The constitutional set-up of Canada does not give a Provincial Legislature that power. He is a judge of a Court of inferior jurisdiction endowed by the Provincial Legislature with certain super-added powers.

It seems to me that the question is: Has the Provincial Legislature the power, having regard to the provisions of the British North America Act, to endow a person who has not been appointed a Judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia by the Governor-General, and who is not such a Judge, with powers and authority in one branch of law, i.e., Divorce and Matrimonial Causes, as full and complete as those held by the Judges of the Supreme Court and which, I might add, have since the founding of the Province always been possessed solely by those Judges?

On numerous occasions the Courts have had to consider whether Provincial legislation conferring judicial powers on persons or bodies was, having regard to the provisions of sections 96, 99, and 100 of the British North America Act, within the legislative authority of a Province. I shall refer to only a few of them.

In Colonial Investment & Loan Co. v. Grady (1915) 24 D.L.R. 176 the powers given to a Provincially appointed Master came under consideration by the Appellate Division of the Alberta Supreme Court. Stuart, J., said at p. 178:

It is obvious that it was left entirely in the discretion of the Master to decide whether or not he should exercise powers which were undoubtedly as full and complete as those held by a Judge of the Supreme Court. He could, indeed, if he thought best, direct an action to be brought or an issue to be tried, but it was still open to him to hear oral evidence as at a trial, and to give as full and as final a judgment as a Judge of the Court could give, no matter what issue of fact, e.g., fraud or other ground, of defence, might have been raised. He was to do all this "in the Supreme Court." It seems to me that it is impossible to avoid the conclusion that by such legislation the Master was constituted in effect a Judge of the Supreme Court, with a jurisdiction limited, indeed, to its extent, but not in its content; that is, limited to a certain very important branch of litigation, but practically unlimited within that sphere, and subject only, with respect to his final judgment, to an appeal to the Appellate Division in the same way as a final judgment of any ordinary Judge of the Supreme Court. For this reason I think the legislation was ultra vires of a Provincial Legislature, inasmuch as it was inconsistent with the appointing power, expressly given to the Dominion in the B.N.A. Act.

In Labour Relations Board of Saskatchewan v. John East Iron Works Ltd. (1949) A.C. 134, Lord Simonds, speaking for the Judicial Committee, said at p. 153:

Finally, in Re the Adoption Act (1938) S.C.R. (Can.) 398 it fell to the Supreme Court of Canada to determine the constitutionality of a number of Acts which beyond question purported to vest judicial power in various judicial officers to be designated by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council. In point of substantive law the subject-matter of these Acts lay within the legislative power of the Provinces just as does the subject-matter of the present appeal. The question then was, whether the judicial bodies thus established were courts within the intentment of s. 96, and the answer was in the negative. It was sufficient for the purpose of that case for the learned Chief Justice to pose this question: "Does the jurisdiction conferred upon magistrates under these statutes broadly conform to a type of jurisdiction generally exercisable by courts of summary jurisdiction rather than the jurisdiction exercised by courts within the purview of s. 96?" and, answering that question in the affirmative, to pronounce for the validity of the statutes. And, if in this case the same alternative was presented to their Lordships, they might well answer it in the same way, for at least from the earliest times the administrative and judicial duties of justices of the peace have been curiously blended: that feature a court of summary jurisdiction has in common with the appellate board. But they would prefer to put the question in another way, which may be more helpful in the decisions of similar issues, namely, "Does the jurisdiction conferred by the Act on the appellate board broadly conform to the type of jurisdiction exercised by the superior, district or county courts?"

Re Adoption Act (1938) S.C.R. 398 was a case in which the Supreme Court of Canada had to consider the validity of Provincial legislation which conferred certain judicial powers upon Magistrates, and the question posed by the learned Chief Justice was put in that connection.

In Toronto Corporation v. York Corporation (1938) A.C. 415 one of the contentions was that the Ontario Municipal Board was invalidly constituted as being a Superior Court constituted in violation of sections 96, 99 and 100 of the British North America Act. Lord Atkin said at p. 427 that "so far, therefore, as the Act purports to constitute the Board a Court of Justice analogous to a Superior, District, or County Court, it is pro tanto invalid."

Atty.-General for Ontario and Display Service Co. Ltd. v. Victoria Medical Bldg. Ltd. (1960) S.C.R. 32 was a case concerning the validity of Provincial legislation which conferred upon the Master "all the jurisdiction, powers and authority of the Supreme Court to try and completely dispose of" certain mechanics' lien actions "and questions arising therein." The point of attack on the legislation was that this grant of jurisdiction to the Master involved a violation of section 96 of the British North America Act. Judson, J., who delivered the judgment of Locke, Cartwright, Abbott, Martland and Judson, J.J., said at p. 42:

... this legislation is in conflict with the appointing power under s. 96 of the British North America Act, and I reach this conclusion for two reasons—the nature of the jurisdiction which is conferred upon the Master and the fact that he is given the power of final adjudication in these matters, subject to the usual right of appeal to the Court of Appeal as from a single judge.

At page 42, after referring to the constituent elements of the jurisdiction given to the Master, Judson, J., said:

All these functions are exercised in an original way and constitute a new type of jurisdiction for the Master which in many aspects is not merely analogous to that exercised by a s. 96 judge but is, in fact, that very jurisdiction, limited only to one particular field of litigation.

In my opinion these cases establish the proposition that a Provincial Legislature is without power of appointment to an office which is endowed with a jurisdiction which "broadly conforms" or is "analogous" to the type of jurisdiction exercised by Superior, District or County Courts, though it be limited to a particular branch of law; for that is equivalent to constituting that person in effect a Judge of one of those Courts and so is ultra vires, inasmuch as it is inconsistent with the appointing power given to the Dominion by section 96 of the British North America Act.

The effect of the legislation in question is to confer upon County Court Judges, acting as Local Judges of the Supreme Court, power to fully and finally adjudicate upon the rights of the parties in Supreme Court actions for divorce and judicial separation as fully and effectually as Supreme Court Judges can do. This jurisdiction given to the County Court Judges is to be exercised in the Supreme Court and their judgments will be judgments of the Supreme Court. In my opinion this is a clear case of constituting Judges of the County Court Judges of the Supreme Court. What else are they, notwithstanding their designation as Local Judges, if they can and do exercise the jurisdiction, powers and functions and all their actions and judgments are those of Supreme Court Judges? It is true that the jurisdiction is limited to one branch of law; but it is unlimited within that sphere, and is subject only, with respect to their final judgments, to appeals to the Court in the same way as final judgments of any ordinary and properly appointed Judges of the Supreme Court. In my opinion this limitation does not affect the position. It is also my opinion that the Provincial Legislature has no more power to confer such a jurisdiction upon persons who have been appointed by the Dominion to the County Courts and as Local Judges of the Supreme Court with the powers set out in their Letters Patent, than it has to confer it upon Provincially appointed Masters, Magistrates or other persons.

There are clear distinctions between Supreme Courts and the Judges thereof and County Courts and the Judges thereof. The Supreme Court is a superior Court, the County Court an inferior one. The salaries of the Judges of the two Courts are not the same. Moreover, by force of section 99 of the British North America Act, Judges of the superior Courts hold office during good behaviour and are removable only by the Governor-General on address by the Senate and the House of Commons, whereas no such security of tenure is given to Judges of the County Courts. See Duff, C.J., in Reference re Authority to Perform Functions Vested by the Adoption Act, Etc., of Ontario (1938) S.C.R. 398 at p. 416.

In the last mentioned case, the learned Chief Justice said at p. 415:

In the argument addressed to us there is an underlying assumption that the interest of the people of this country in the independent and impartial administration of justice has its main security in sections 96, 97 and 99 (of the B.N.A. Act). Now, there were weighty reasons, no doubt, for those sections, and a strict observance of them as regards the judges of courts within their purview is essential to the due administration of justice.

In Toronto Corporation v. York Corporation (1938) A.C. 415, Lord Atkin said at p. 425:

The first question touches a matter of first importance to the people of Canada. While legislative power in relation to the constitution, maintenance and organization of Provincial Courts of Civil Jurisdiction, including procedure in civil matters, is confided to the Province, the independence of the judges is protected by provisions that the judges of the Superior, District, and County Courts shall be appointed by the Governor-General (s. 96 of the British North America Act, 1867), that the judges of the Superior Courts shall hold office during good behaviour (s. 99), and that the salaries of the judges of the Superior, District, and County Courts shall be fixed and provided by the Parliament of Canada (s. 100). These are three principal pillars in the temple of justice, and they are not to be undermined.

Re Judicature Act 1924 (1924) 56 O.L.R. 1, which went to the Judicial Committee on appeal from the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario (Attorney-General for Ontario v. Attorney-General for Canada (1925) A.C. 750), concerned the constitutionality of certain sections of a Provincial Statute. By that Statute, a Supreme Court of Ontario to consist of nineteen Judges to be appointed by the Dominion under the provisions of section 96 of the British North America Act was established in lieu of the existing Supreme Court of Ontario. Under the Statute the position of the existing Judges of the Supreme Court was to be safeguarded, but subject to that provision the Judges were to be assigned, some of them to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, and the remainder to the High Court Division. At (1925) A.C. p. 753, Lord Cave, L.C., after earlier referring to sections 92 (14), 96, 99, and 100 of the British North America Act, said:

What is the effect of those provisions? It can hardly be doubted that the result of them is to authorize the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province to assign—that is to say, to appoint—certain judges of the High Court to be judges of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, and also to designate—that is to say, to appoint—certain judges to hold the offices of Chief Justice of Ontario and Chief Justice of the High Court Division. If that is the real effect of the statute, as it appears to be, there can be no doubt that the effect of the statute, if valid, would be to transfer the right to appoint the two Chief Justices and the judges of Appeal from the Governor-General of Canada to the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario in Council; and if so, it must follow that the statute is to that extent inconsistent with s. 96 of the Act of 1867 and beyond the power of the Legislature of Ontario. This conclusion applies not only to sub-ss. 5 and 6 of s. 2, but also to sub-ss. 2, 3 and 4 of the same section, all of which have reference to the void provisions of sub-ss. 5 and 6 as well as to sub-ss. 1 and 2 of s. 4. Accordingly their Lordships agree with the Appellate Division in holding that sub-ss. 2 to 6 inclusive of s. 1, and sub-ss. 1 and 2 of s. 4 of the Act are invalid; but it does not appear to them that any objection can be taken to sub-s. 3 of s. 4.

In the Court of Appeal, 56 O.L.R. at p. 4, Mulock, C.J., said:

In passing sec. 96 of the B.N.A. Act, Parliament doubtless contemplated every appointment to the Bench by the Governor-General being made with strict regard to the requirements of the particular office to be filled and the qualifications of the one to be selected therefor. Different judicial positions call for different qualifications of those to be selected.

It appears to me that the British Columbia Legislature has endeavoured to do indirectly and through the office of Local Judge of the Supreme Court what it cannot do directly, that is to constitute and in effect to make one who has been selected by the Governor-General for the County Court bench a Supreme Court Judge. Having regard to the distinctions between Supreme Courts and the Judges thereof and County Courts and the Judges thereof which I have mentioned and to the authorities to which I have referred, I am of the opinion that the Legislature is without power to do what it has attempted to do. The effort in Ontario was confined to the group of Superior Court Judges. If it could not succeed, I am unable to see how the Province can endow a County Court Judge with the status of a Supreme Court Judge with a jurisdiction unlimited in content, though limited in extent.

For these reasons I would answer the question referred to us in the negative.
